CALL FOR PAPERS

Devoted to the international advancement of the science and technology of unconventional gas extraction and utilization, this meeting provides unique opportunities for interdisciplinary examination of diverse technologies concerning coalbed methane and shale gas. Submit abstracts in such fields as:

- Horizontal Drilling
- Geology/Resource Assessment
- Reservoir Characterization/Engineering
- Enhanced Recovery/Stimulation
- Reservoir Modeling
- Environmental/Legal/Economics
- Sequestration
- Shale Gas
- Well Completions
- International Coal & Shale Gas Developments
- New Technology

SUBMISSION OF ABSTRACTS

Prospective authors are encouraged to submit abstracts not to exceed 500 words (in English) no later than January 31, 2010. Acceptance/regret notices will be sent via e-mail to corresponding author by February 28, 2010. Abstracts may include two pages of supporting graphics and must provide a concise statement of the scope and significance of the proposed paper. Please include names of all contributing authors, titles, organizations, addresses, phone/fax numbers, and most importantly, email addresses. Designate and submit the corresponding author's name with whom all contacts pertaining to abstracts/papers will be made. All presenting authors/coauthors must pre-register for the program. Final papers are due for the Proceedings CD no later than April 9, 2010 and papers must be included in the Proceedings prior to oral presentations given on May 19-20, 2010.

ABSTRACT TITLE: _____

EXPRESSIONS OF INTEREST:

I am interested in short courses/workshops pertaining to:

- resource evaluation and appraisal
 - producibility and exploration
 - economics and utilization
 - enhanced recovery and technology
 - geology and/or resource assessment
 - integrating unconventional gas technologies
 - operating in the international arena
 - reservoir characterization/modeling
 - reservoir gas-in-place analysis
 - sequestration
 - well completion and/or stimulation
 - other _____
- My organization is interested in participating as a sponsor of the Symposium or exhibiting during the program. Send me information pertaining to this type of participation to the address and/or email indicated below.
